Sore Muscles Get Relief

September 28th, 2008

I'll admit, since become a mom (and, yes, getting older), I seem to have more aches and pains than I used to. Between falling down the stairs (something I still can't believe I did), and getting the flu, this year has been tough on my muscles. I received a sampling of products from Warm Whiskers, a company that offers microwavable herbal heating pads.

Warm Whiskers products are highly effective, using a nice combination of herbs in adorable designs. Because of the contoured shapes available, they are better than a traditional pad because they cuddle right into your body. The neck wraps are great for relieving tension in the neck after a long day, while the body wraps and pillows are good for all over aching.

Warm Whiskers also offers eye pillows, heatable slippers, pocket critters for children, and heatable products for pampered pets. Any of the products would be a great holiday gift for parents and grandparents, especially those who are hard to buy for! Visit them online at <http://www.warmwhiskers.com>.
